This move places our company in the heart of the pharmaceutical industry and gives us easy access to the financial industry in New York City, New York.

Website update: Our company website - <http://responsescientific.com> - is being updated this month. A new category in the dropdown menu bar is "News". Under "News" you will find "Press Releases" and "Shareholders".

While anyone will be able to access "Press Releases", only shareholders can access pertinent announcements for investors under the "Shareholders" dropdown. A security measure will be in place to protect investor's identification and a unique login will be required.

This past June at our teleconference annual meeting, a few shareholders stated that they had not received timely notification of the meeting. The above action eliminates the possibility of this occurring in the future.
